

EXCUSES FOR BEING LATE

~

40 BELIEVABLE EXCUSES FOR THOSE TIMES WHEN YOU DON'T BOTHER TO LEAVE IN TIME, BECAUSE
LET'S BE HONEST, YOU WERE EITHER PLAYING TETRIS
OR THINKING IMPURE THOUGHTS ABOUT TETRIS.

(2 blank excuses included)

~

HOW TO USE:

PRINT, CUT ALONG THE DOTTED LINES,
GLUE EACH CARD TO A SNAIL,
RACE THE SNAILS ALONG A 50 CENTIMETRE TRACK AND USE THE EXCUSE THAT'S GLUED TO THE SNAIL THAT FINISHES LAST.

WARNING:

DO NOT USE THE SAME EXCUSE TWICE WITH THE SAME PERSON, UNLESS YOU'RE WEARING A DISGUISE.

FREE TO DISTRIBUTE AS A PDF.

MADE BY ASTONISHING SOD

TWITTER: @ASTONISHINGSOD

TUMBLR: HAUNTEDBOX.TUMBLR.COM

EMAIL: ASTONISHINGSODAPE@GMAIL DOT COM

My skateboard
had an acid
flashback.

I was helping an old lady across
the motorway.

My tricycle
overheated.

I got distracted by an aeroplane that was flying like a bee.

I ate my alarm
clock while I was sleeping.

My shoes wouldn't move.

I was here, but I fell
out of the window.

A fork became lodged under my eyelid.

The bus fainted.

I was marvelling at
the curvature of
the earth.

I had to shelter a family of robots from
a sudden downpour
of acid rain.

Couldn't find my
cape.

When I woke up, I
thought zombies
were real.

I kidnapped my family and couldn't go to work until I released them.

I got stuck to a hedge.

Fought with an armed nun.

My boat crashed
into some cows.

I was forced to participate in a pageant.

I was trying to remember the ending of 'Titanic'.

There was a horse.

I'm sleepwalking.

I fell into some soup and couldn't find my way out.

I became so engrossed
in the novel I was reading that I neglected
to leave the shower.

I was misled by a
ghost.

I felt a bit, you
know, gnuibious.

I've invented a time
machine. This is me
from last week, trying
to get a headstart,
so I'm actually early..

I suddenly
understood Cubism,
while driving. I think I crashed into either a lamppost or a snake.

I thought I saw the Terminator.

I had to calm an
otter.

I thought it was Christmas and I spent
the morning
frantically searching for a tree.

I was trying to forget the 90s.

Ambushed by traffic cones.

My toothbrush
wouldn't work.

The milkman pulled
my trousers down.

I was wishing for a
better tomorrow,
but I got hit by a
bendy bus.

I was chased into a brothel by a conga-line.

My house was surrounded by roads, so I panicked.

The car wouldn't stop.

I thought it'd be quicker if I cycled, but it took me two hours to find a bike.

I got stuck on a roundabout with some fabric softener and a bunch of Rod Stewart t-shirts.

